Rose Quarter

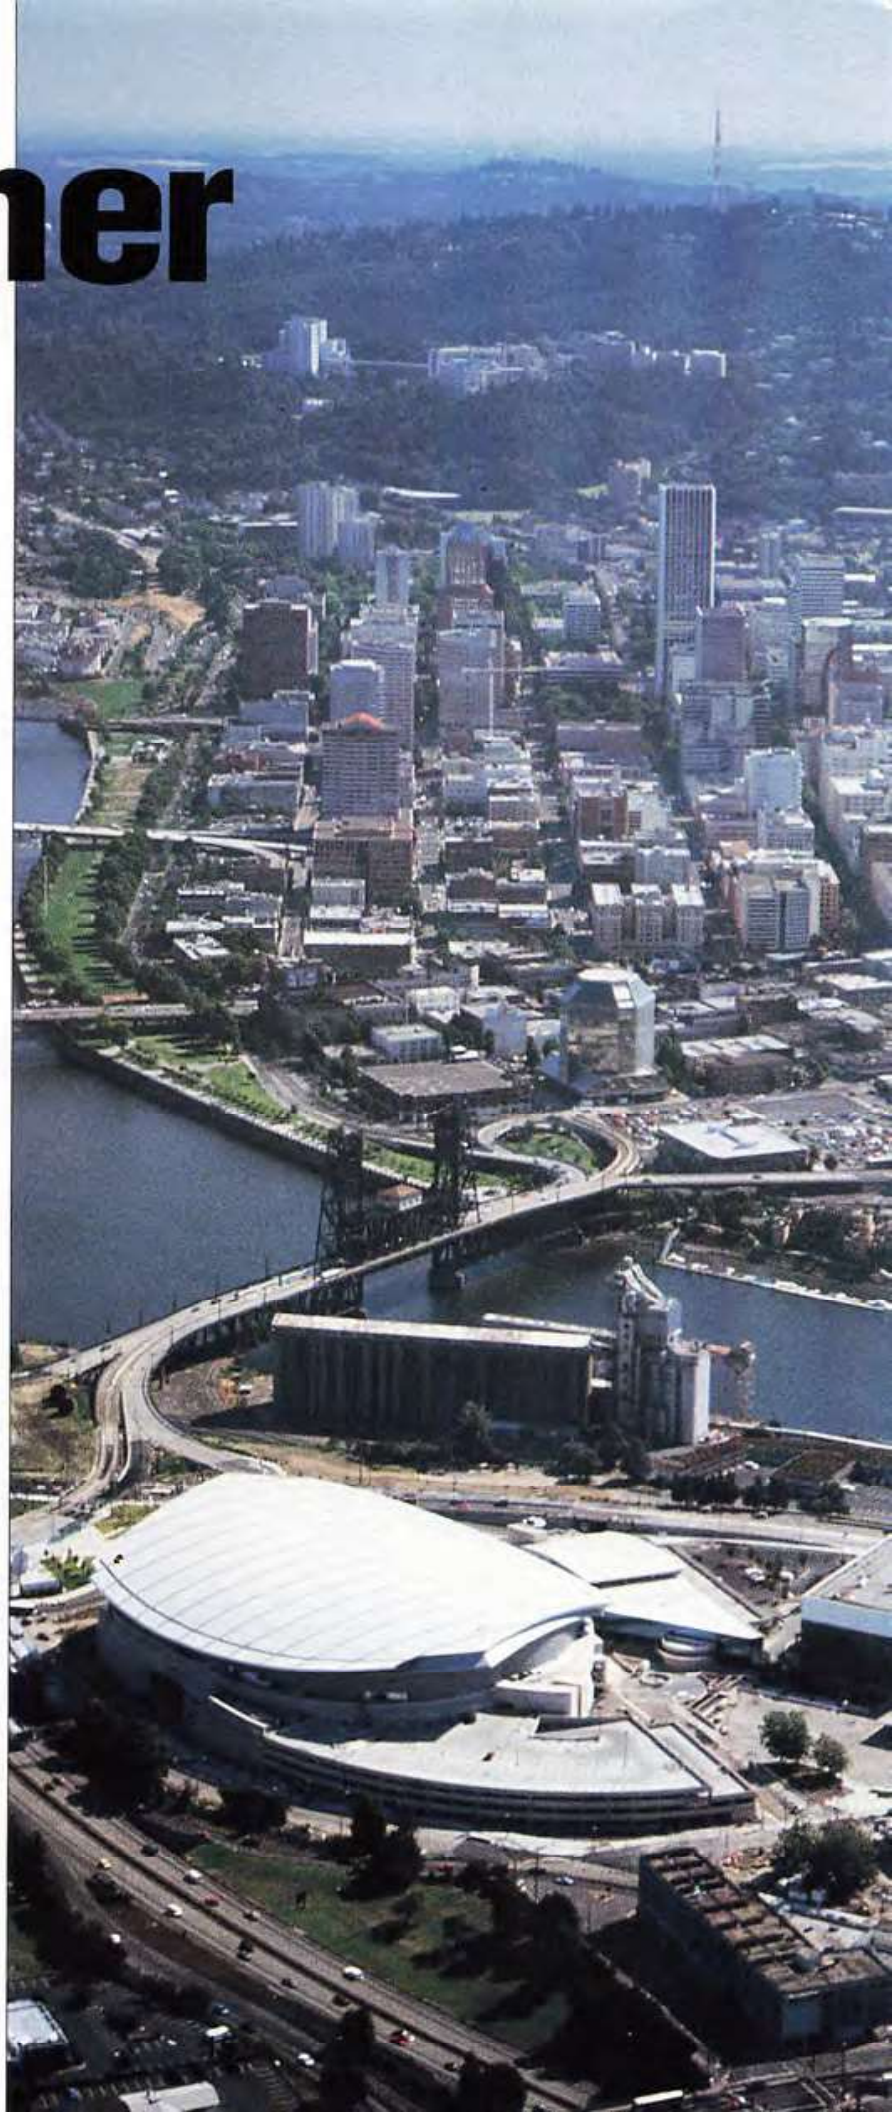
The Portland Trail Blazers' new world-class home, The Rose Garden, is the centerpiece of the Rose Quarter, a 30-acre gem perched on the east bank of the Willamette River just over the bridges from downtown Portland and a only a short walk from the Oregon Convention Center. In addition to the new multipurpose sports and entertainment facility, the Rose Quarter campus includes the Memorial Coliseum, three restaurants, four parking garages, a large pedestrian plaza and corporate offices. Here are some of the features:

- Designed to seat more than 21,000 for NBA basketball games, the Rose Garden becomes a desired venue for college basketball, professional ice hockey, indoor soccer and indoor track and field meets, major concerts, ice shows, rodeos, conventions, trade shows and a wide variety of other sports and entertainment possibilities.
- Total enclosed area of the Rose Garden, designed by the architectural firm of Ellerbe Becket, is more than 785,000 square feet on eight levels. It is considerably larger than most contemporary arenas that range in size from 600,000 to 650,000 square feet.
- Cost of the Rose Quarter, including seismic and back-of-house improvements to the existing Memorial Coliseum, is more than $262 million. Public funding consists of a $34.5 million commitment by the City of Portland that will be repaid from a ticket user fees, parking revenues and other event-related sources.
- More than 2,500 parking spaces are available on the Rose Quarter campus and another 3,000 in Rose Quarter shuttle lots located in the nearby Lloyd District. The shuttle runs for all Blazers games as well as for most major Rose Garden events. Round trips on the shuttle are free with paid parking at the shuttle lots and the buses run every five minutes before and after events.
- The Rose Quarter Transit Center, served by Tri-Met buses and MAX light rail, is right next to the Rose Garden's front door. Close-in parking for patrons with mobility impairment is available in every one of the Rose Quarter garages and at the shuttle lots. The Rose Quarter Commons, with wide walkways and gentle ramps, is disabled-friendly, allowing easy access to all of the facilities on the campus.
- One Center Court, located between the Rose Garden and the Memorial Coliseum, houses three restaurants---Cucina! Cucina! Italian Cafe, Friday's Front Row, and a Widmer Brewing Co.-Jody Maroni's Sausage Kingdom partnership.

The Rose Quarter is conventiently located close to hotels in downtown Portland and in the Lloyd District. It is bounded by Broadway and Weidler Streets on the north, Wheeler Avenue on the east, Interstate Avenue on the west and Multnomah Street on the south. The Rose Quarter has direct access to Portland's two major freeway routes, I-84 and I-5. Media acess is at the Garden Garage entrance off North Interstate Avenue between the Broadway and Steel Bridges.

Primer

- Some of the Rose Garden's special features . . . More than 700 televisions to pipe event coverage and information to arena patrons on the concourses, in restaurants, clubs, suites and other areas . . . A Bank AmeriVision scoreboard above the arena floor with four Panasonic Astrovision high resolution screens, each measuring 13 feet wide by 10 feet high . . . Thirty-two public restrooms on four arena levels make the Rose Garden among the most accomodating facility of its kind in the world . . . A unique "Acoustical Cloud" system, composed of 160 adjustable panels suspended from the ceiling, allowing for customized acoustical treatments of the arena's interior to correspond with specific events . . . Seventy executive suites encircle the arena midway between the lower and upper seating tiers, each with a capacity of 22 persons and amenities such as in-bowl seating for events, wet bar, ice machine, catered food service, a restroom, changing area, three televisions and a stereo system.



SUPERFLAT™ SYSTEM TECHNOLOGY IS CHANGING THE FACE OF TELEVISION.

The new Panasonic SuperFlat™ System Television will raise your perception of SUPERFLAT SYSTEM TV reality to an entirely new plane.

Imagine—a screen that appears flat but creates an image with incredible depth and dimension. And its high-contrast black glass produces color with brilliance and intensity. But there's more to this phenomenon than meets the eye. Its Dome Sound System creates powerful stereo sound that seems to propel the image from the screen.

So why settle for the ordinary when you can experience the extraordinary new SuperFlat System Television?

PAUL ALLEN

The Wired World. The Portland Trail Blazers. Jimi Hendrix. Cyberspace. DreamWorks SKG with David Geffen, Jeffrey Katzenberg and Steven Spielberg. The information superhighway. Computers.

What do all of the above have in common? The intense and committed interest of Paul Allen, who is beginning his eighth year as Chairman of the Portland Trail Blazers.

Allen is a Seattle-area native who was introduced to computers and his future Microsoft co-founder Bill Gates while attending Lakeside School in the mid-1960s. After co-founding Microsoft Corporation, now the world's leading supplier of software for personal computers, with Gates in 1975, Allen served as Microsoft's executive vice president of research and new product development, the company's senior technology post, until 1983. During that time he helped develop Microsoft MS-DOS and Windows operating systems and the majority of Microsoft's most successful products, including Microsoft Word and the Microsoft Mouse. Allen remains a major shareholder and serves on Microsoft's board of directors.

After leaving Microsoft, Allen began to assemble a family of companies to explore products and technologies that will be important in an interactive future, or "wired world." In addition to the Portland Trail Blazers, this family of companies includes Asymetrix Corporation, Starwave Corporation, Interval Research, Ticketmaster Corporation, Vulcan Ventures Inc., the Paul Allen Group and Dreamworks SKG. Allen's portfolio currently includes over 25 technology, entertainment and biotechnology companies, and his business strategy includes encouraging communication and synergy between his companies for mutual benefit.

Allen gives back to the community through the four Allen Charitable Foundations, which support arts, medical and other charitable needs in the Pacific Northwest, and is the founder of the Experience Music Project™ (formerly the Jimi Hendrix Museum) in Seattle.

In 1988, Allen purchased the Portland Trail Blazers from owner Larry Weinberg. In Allen's second year, Portland made it to the NBA Finals and were back in the championship round two years later.

BERT KOLDE

Bert Kolde, Vice Chairman of the Portland Trail Blazers, has been a member of Paul Allen's management team since 1985.

He works closely with Allen and Trail Blazers' corporate officials in setting overall directions and strategies and seeing to their implementation. Kolde encourages close working relationships between Blazers staff and management and the variety of Paul Allen's companies that are recognized as being in the forefront of interactive multimedia computer development.

Kolde, who was a roommate of Allen's when the two were freshmen at Washington State University, co-founded Asymetrix Corporation with Paul Allen in 1985 and served as the company's president until last year. Asymetrix develops and sells multimedia and database design software. Kolde remains on Asymetrix's board of directors and also serves as a representative of Paul Allen's interests on the boards of several other companies.

Before joining Asymetrix, Kolde was vice president of management reporting for the Seafirst Corporation in Seattle. He began his career in finance with the Boeing Company.

He earned his bachelor of science degree in finance at Washington State University, and completed his master's degree in business administration at the University of Washington in 1980. In between, he was an officer in the U.S. Army, serving in the Panama Canal Zone.

JODY PATTON

As vice chairman and owner's representative for the Oregon Arena Corp., and owner's representative to the Trail Blazers, Jody Allen Patton has played a significant role in development of the team's new home, the Rose Garden, and its surrounding complex, the Rose Quarter, all scheduled to open this fall.

Jody has been responsible for coordinating the contractors and architects on the Rose Quarter project, and representing the interests of Blazers Chairman Paul Allen. She was promoted to her present position July 12, 1994, after serving for two years as senior vice president, and has been involved in the Rose Quarter's development since the project's inception five years ago.

She has considerable experience in both the profit and nonprofit sectors, serving as director of the four Paul G. Allen charitable foundations, and as executive director of the Experience Music Project™ which will open in Seattle in 1998. The 100,000 sq foot, $60 million project will honor creativity and innovation as exemplified by American popular music and culture, with a particular focus on musicians from the Pacific Northwest. Jody oversees all aspects of the museum's program, construction, community outreach and staff. She is also vice-chairman of Vulcan Northwest Inc., Paul Allen's management company.

HARRY GLICKMAN

The Portland Trail Blazers, one of the most successful franchises in all of sports and a model for other organizations in professional basketball, point to the accomplishments of one man as the foundation for their rise to the top.

The man is Harry Glickman, now president emeritus of the Blazers.

It was more than just a fitting tribute to the highly successful Blazer president when he was enshrined in the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1986. Glickman received the prestigious First Citizen Award for civic leadership in December of 1992.

The success of the Trail Blazers has been unequalled since Glickman first began wooing a franchise to Portland as early as the mid-1960's.

In January of 1970, Glickman went to the NBA meetings in Philadelphia with the backing for a franchise. Expansion into San Diego, Phoenix and Seattle, coupled with the transplanting of the Minneapolis Lakers to Los Angeles and Philadelphia Warriors to San Francisco, opened up the West Coast to the predominantly eastern league and enhanced Portland's bid for a team. At the Philadelphia meetings, Glickman found the ante had been increased for an expansion team. He returned home empty-handed but that initial setback was shortlived. A month later with new financial backing, the Trail Blazers were born at a meeting in Los Angeles.

Just seven seasons into existence, the Blazers brought a world championship to the city of Portland. Glickman's initial commitment to putting Portland at the forefront of the NBA has never wavered, avoiding the complacency that sometimes accompanies success.

Following the 1993-94 season the Blazers had sold out an astounding 769 consecutive home games at Memorial Coliseum. That's easily the longest string by any team in any sport.

Glickman was born in Portland and graduated from the University of Oregon School of Journalism in 1948 following a stint in Germany during World War II. He served as director of the university's athletic news bureau as a sophomore and covered the Ducks for The Oregonian during the era of Norm Van Brocklin, one of Glickman's close friends.

Plans to become a sportswriter were tabled as Glickman began to open doors for himself in the area of promotions and publicity. After founding Oregon Sports Attractions in 1952, he devoted his efforts to promoting boxing, professional football and the Harlem Globetrotters, as well as non-sports related activities such as the Northwest tour of Judy Garland and Liberace.

A pre-season football game between the Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Cardinals in 1952 was staged by Glickman at Multnomah Civic Stadium. With more than 29,100 fans in attendance, it was his first sellout. He continued to bring the NFL to Portland until 1969.

Glickman served as manager of Multnomah Civic Stadium in 1958 and 1959

In the fall of 1960, Glickman brought professional hockey back to Portland after a 10-year absence, organizing the Portland Buckaroos of the old Western Hockey League. During the '60s, the Buckaroos finished first seven times and second twice in one nine-year stretch. They smashed every attendance record in professional hockey outside the then tightly-knit six-team National Hockey League. Glickman was named Hockey Executive of the Year by Hockey News in 1965.

Glickman's commitment to improving the quality of life for the people of Oregon has not been limited just to providing the benefits derived from the realm of sports. He is active in a wide variety of civic affairs. The crowning glory of his long career may be the development and construction of the Oregon Arena Project, the most ambitious and innovative entertainment complex in the country.

Glickman is also involved in Israeli sports activities. He serves on the U.S. Committee, Sports for Israel, which sponsors the highly-acclaimed Maccabiah Games (the international Jewish Olympics), and he also is on the board of the American Friends of Windgate, a school in Israel specializing in physical education. As a result, a basketball court for immigrant children near Jerusalem bears his name.

In addition to being an enshrinee in the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame, Glickman is also a Director Emeritus of the Hall. He has been named to the Webfoot Society of the University of Oregon and was among the first inductees of the Portland chapter of the University's Hall of Fame. Each year the State of Oregon's top professional athlete is honored with the Harry Glickman Professional Athlete of the Year award at The Oregonian Banquet of Champions.

Glickman and his wife, Joanne, have two daughters, Lynn and Jennifer; a son, Marshall; and grandson, Joel. Marshall is President of Trail Blazers, Inc., and the Oregon Arena Corp.

BOB WHITSITT

Bob Whitsitt begins his second season as president and general manager of Blazers Basketball, having been named to the post by chairman Paul Allen on July 12, 1994. He oversees all aspects of the Trail Blazers basketball operations.

Whitsitt, the 1994 NBA Executive of the Year, came to Portland following a successful eight-year stint as team president and general manager with the Seattle SuperSonics. Prior to his arrival in 1986, the Sonics had won just 31 games in each of the two previous seasons and had ranked last in the league in attendance. During Whitsitt's tenure, the team posted a 377-279 (.575) record, capped by a club-record and NBA-high 63 victories in 1993-94, that resulted in a sellout of every home game during the regular season and playoffs.

Prior to joining the Sonics, Whitsitt was vice president, assistant general manager of the Kansas City and Sacramento Kings from 1984-86. He had begun his career in professional basketball with the Indiana Pacers as an intern in 1978 at the age of 22. He was promoted to director of business affairs and promotions the following year before becoming the Pacers' assistant general manager in 1981. In August of 1982, Whitsitt left the Pacers to join the then-Kansas City Kings as vice president, marketing director. Two years later, he was promoted to vice president, assistant general manager and joined the Kings in their move to Sacramento. At the age of 30, Whitsitt moved to Seattle as the youngest team president in the NBA.

A 1977 graduate in communications at Wisconsin-Stevens Point, Whitsitt received a Master's Degree in Sports Administration from The Ohio State University in 1978. He is a member of U.S.A. Basketball's Senior National Committee and a member of Young President's Organization. The 39-year-old Whitsitt and his wife Jan have a daughter, Lily, and son, Sean. Jan, an attorney, once served as director of marketing and broadcasting for the SuperSonics.

P.J. CARLESIMO

Carlesimo became the eighth head coach in franchise history on June 23, 1994. In his first season as an NBA head coach, he guided the Trail Blazers to a 44-38 record. That earned him the distinction of being the first NBA coach in 25 years to move directly from college to a head coaching job in the pros and post a winning record in his first season. The last coach to make the successful jump in one campaign was Cotton Fitzsimmons, who went from Kansas State to Phoenix and recorded a 48-34 mark in his inaugural season with the Suns in 1970-71.

Carlesimo, 46, spent 12 seasons as head coach at Seton Hall University, where he compiled a career record of 212-166 (.561). He was only the second Pirate coach to go over the 200 victory mark at Seton Hall, joining Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame member John "Honey" Russell in that exclusive club. Since the 1990-91 season, the Pirates posted a 93-38 (.710) record en route to four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances. Carlesimo guided his team to six NCAA Tournament appearances in the seven years, and had five seasons with 20 or more wins.

Named head coach at Seton Hall in 1982, Carlesimo guided the Pirates to the NIT—their first post-season berth in 10 years—in 1986-87. The following season he led Seton Hall into the NCAA tournament for the first time in school history. During his tenure at Seton Hall, Carlesimo guided the Pirates to an appearance in the NCAA Championship game in 1989, the BIG EAST Conference championship and an appearance in the NCAA Final Eight in 1991, a share of the BIG EAST Conference regular season championship and a slot in the NCAA's Sweet 16 in 1992, and BIG EAST regular season and Tournament championships in 1993.

His first year as a head coach at the college level was an auspicious one. In the dual role of athletic director and basketball coach at New Hampshire College in 1975-76, he guided the Penmen to the Mayflower Conference championship and an NCAA tournament bid. The next season he moved to Wagner College on Staten Island to start a six-year coaching stint. During the final four years of that tenure P.J. doubled as athletic director. In 1978-79 he guided the Seahawks to an NIT berth, the only post-season bid in the school's history, and tied the team record for wins in a season with 21.

Active in USA Basketball, Carlesimo served as an assistant coach on Chuck Daly's staff for the 1992 United States Men's Olympic "Dream Team", which made its debut in Portland at the Basketball Tournament of the Americas before going on to win the Gold medal in Barcelona.

In May and June of 1993, he was head coach of "Team USA", a squad comprised of the nation's top collegians that competed against a number of national teams in Europe. He guided the USA Team to the Gold medal in the World University Games in Sheffield, England, in August of 1991, and in the summer of 1990, he served as an assistant coach for the United States team that competed in the Goodwill Games and the World Championships. In 1989 Carlesimo coached the East team in the U.S. Olympic Festival, and in 1988 he was an assistant at the Olympic Trials.

Carlesimo has served on a number of committees for USA Basketball, including the Player Selection Subcommittee and the Games Committee for Men. A member of the NCAA Basketball Officiating Committee, he is a past president of the Metropolitan Basketball Coaches Association and the New Jersey College Basketball Coaches Association. He was appointed to the Board of Directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches in 1992.

A 1971 graduate of Fordham University, he earned nine letters in four varsity sports and competed in the NCAA basketball tournament during his final season as his team compiled a 26-3 record. Carlesimo, a bachelor, is the eldest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Carlesimo's 10 children.

RICK CARLISLE

Rick Carlisle starts his seventh NBA season as an assistant coach and his second in Portland under head coach P.J. Carlesimo.

Carlisle, 35, spent five years with the New Jersey Nets before joining the Trail Blazers staff. Hired initially by Bill Fitch as an assistant coach at New Jersey one month into the 1989-90 NBA campaign, he was retained by Chuck Daly and served as the most tenured coach with the club during Daly's two-year stint as the Nets' head coach. Carlisle had a wide range of responsibilities, including player development and scouting and spent the last three years primarily on the bench as an assistant coach for the Nets.

A five-year NBA veteran, Carlisle was Boston's third-round selection (69th overall) in the 1984 NBA Draft and was the only rookie to make the Celtics' squad that year. The following season, 1985-86, Carlisle earned a championship ring with the Celtics averaging 2.6 points in 77 games. During his playing career, which included stints with New York and New Jersey, he averaged 2.2 points, 1.1 assists and shot .422 from the floor with a .775 free throw percentage in 188 games played.

Carlisle began his collegiate career at the University of Maine before transferring for his last two years at the University of Virginia. At Virginia, he averaged 11.1 points as a teammate of Ralph Sampson, the College Player of the Year, and studied psychology and business management.

JOHNNY DAVIS

Former Trail Blazer guard Johnny Davis is in his second season on the Portland Trail Blazers staff and his sixth as an assistant coach in the NBA. He came full circle in his career last season, returning to the organization that he began his NBA career with in 1976.

A 10-year NBA veteran, Davis was Portland's second-round selection (22nd overall) in the 1976 NBA Draft. Davis earned a championship ring during his rookie year, averaging 8.0 points in 79 regular season games. He gained a starting spot midway through the playoffs when regular starting guard Dave Twardzik was injured. Davis responded by averaging 13.1 points in the last 11 playoff games. In his first playoff start, he scored a game-high 25 points, shooting 10 of 14 from the floor, as Portland clinched its Conference semi-final series with Denver. He was part of the dramatic final two seconds of the sixth and deciding game against Philadelphia, grabbing a crucial rebound tipped his direction by Bill Walton and racing down the floor as the clock ran out, giving the Blazers a 109-107 win and the World championship.

During his playing career, which included stints with Indiana, Atlanta and Cleveland, he averaged 12.9 points, 4.5 assists and shot .448 from the field and .821 from the line in 750 games.

During 1993-94, Davis was an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Clippers after serving in a similar capacity in Atlanta. Before he became an assistant coach with Atlanta, Davis was the director of community affairs for the Hawks.

Davis played collegiately at the University of Dayton. He earned his business and community development degree from Georgia State University in 1987. Davis and his wife, Lezli, have two children, Reginald and Austin.

DICK HARTER

Veteran coach Dick Harter begins his second season as a Trail Blazers assistant coach. Last fall, he returned to the State of Oregon where two decades earlier he captured national attention as head coach at the University of Oregon.

Harter, 64, joined the Blazers staff after serving as an assistant coach with the New York Knicks the previous three seasons. He became an assistant to Pat Riley at New York following a year-long stint as a television color commentator with Detroit. Harter made his NBA debut as an assistant coach under Chuck Daly at Detroit in 1983-84. Following a three-year term in Detroit, Harter served for two seasons (1986-87 and 1987-88) as an assistant at Indiana under Jack Ramsay. On June 3, 1988, Harter was named the first head coach at Charlotte and guided the Hornets during the franchise's first year and a half.

Harter's Oregon teams posted a 112-82 (.577) record from 1971-72 through 1977-78 and gave McArthur Court the reputation for being one of the toughest places to play in college basketball. His teams' tenacious style of play earned the Ducks the nickname "The Kamikaze Kids."

Prior to his NBA tenure, Harter enjoyed an 18-year collegiate head coaching career, compiling a 295-193 (.601) record with Rider College (1965-66); Pennsylvania, his alma mater (1966-67 through 1970-71); Oregon (1971-72 through 1977-78), and Penn State (1978-79 through 1982-83). At Penn, Harter's teams went a combined 53-3 during his final two seasons there. He earned Eastern Basketball Coach of the Year honors in 1971 when Penn ranked third in the nation with a 28-1 mark. Overall, Harter compiled a combined head coaching record of 319-287 (.526).

A 1953 graduate of Penn with a degree in education, Harter was a three-year letterman in basketball and helped lead his team to two Ivy League titles. After a three-year stint in the Marines, he coached at Germantown Academy in Philadelphia for two years.

Harter and his wife, Mari, live in Barton, Vermont, during the summer. He is the father of five children: Linda, Richard Jr., Jim, Robyn and Kerry.

JAY JENSEN

He served as trainer for the Western Conference team at the 1994 NBA All-Star Game.

The SWIFT and GRACEFUL water heaters have taught the cheetah her lesson. She may be the fastest mammal on earth, but natural gas is faster. (Which accounts for the large number of wildebeests in a cheetah's diet.) In fact, high-efficiency natural gas appliances usually do the job quicker and use less energy than comparable electric appliances. Which means you'll save money and energy every month. You'll also be more comfortable. Which is certainly good news for you. But rather bad news for the wildebeests.

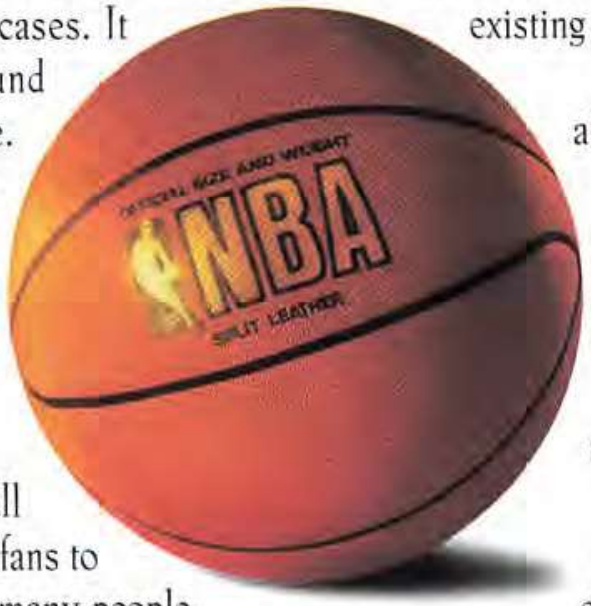
We're Using This To Rebuild Neighborhoods.

A basketball. You've seen what it can do on the court. It fills seats and trophy cases. It makes hearts pound and feet scramble. It makes whistles blow, scoreboards light up, and coaches proud.



For the second straight year, the same ball that brings sports fans to their feet will get many people into homes.

That's because the Trail Blazers have teamed up with Fannie Mae to form "Portland's Home Team." This ongoing partnership helps revitalize neighborhoods with special needs in Portland.

How do we make a difference? In Portland, the Fannie Mae Foundation will be making another grant to HOST Development, Inc. And in the years to come, Fannie Mae and the Trail Blazers will be working together to construct new homes and rehabilitate existing houses.

Fannie Mae also provides helpful information on reducing the barriers to homeownership and explaining the mortgage process through our consumer outreach program known as "Opening Doors."

As the nation's leading source of mortgage funds, we've made a commitment to increase housing opportunities for the people who need them the most.

The next time you see a Trail Blazers game, keep your eye on the ball.

And remember, this year Fannie Mae and the Trail Blazers are shooting for something higher than the basket.

Bold indicates mark achieved during 1994-95 season.

Geoff Petrie is one of only eight players in the history of the NBA to score 2,000 or more points as a rookie. He led the Blazers in their first season by scoring 2,031 points, earning co-Rookie of the Year honors for his efforts. Geoff's first year performance puts him in select company. The list of other players to exceed that plateau as rookies includes five Hall of Famers---Wilt Chamberlain, Oscar Robertson, Walt Bellamy, Rick Barry and Elvin Hayes plus Kareem Abdul Jabbar and Michael Jordan. Robertson and Jordan are the only other guards to accomplish the feat and Jordan is the only rookie to do so since Petrie topped the 2,000 point mark 25 seasons ago.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT----The longest game in Trail Blazers history was a four-overtime marathon March 16, 1984, against Chicago that lasted 3 hours and 24 minutes. The 1992 regular season windup on April 18 against the Los Angeles Lakers lasted 2 hours and 31 minutes, the longest regulation game on the books. The shortest game in Portland history was a 1 hour, 42 minute contest with the Lakers on Dec. 29, 1978. On Feb. 18, 1994, Portland and Philadelphia finished a game in 1 hour, 47 minutes that included a 4 1/2 minute delay when Sixers' center Shawn Bradley was injured.

In the 25 years since the Trail Blazers joined the league as an expansion franchise, 12 different teams have won NBA titles and 15 different teams have been in The NBA Finals. However, of the 13 teams to come into the league since 1970---nine through expansion and four through merger with the old ABA---Orlando last spring became first to reach the NBA Finals other than the Blazers. Portland has been in the finals three times and is the only one to win a championship.

PORTLAND YEARLY ATTENDANCE

The Trail Blazers closed out their 25-year tenure in Portland's Memorial Coliseum by selling out all of their games for the 18th consecutive season. The 41 straight sellouts in 1994-95—40 in the regular season and one in the playoffs—raised Portland's homecourt sellout total to 810, an all-time National Basketball Association record and the longest current streak in all of sports. The Blazers will open the 1995-96 campaign in their new 21,300-seat Rose Garden next door to Memorial Coliseum.

The last time the Blazers failed to sell out a game was on April 5, 1977, when 12,359 turned out for a game with Detroit. The 11 millionth Blazer fan came to Memorial Coliseum on December 10, 1993, to watch Portland play the Los Angeles Lakers.

Total 1994-95 attendance at all Blazer games for the year, regular season and playoff, home and away, was 1,243,205 for 85 contests, an average of 14,625.

PORTLAND TRADE HISTORY

NOTES TO TRADE HISTORY

1. If a third team is not mentioned in the transaction then assume any draft pick is the choice of the team Portland is trading with or is Portland's choice.
2. If a draft choice acquired in a transaction is subsequently traded by Portland in that original deal, the choice is listed as 'choice traded.' Everywhere else when referring to a draft choice, the player eventually selected by Portland or by the team ultimately receiving the draft choice is shown in parentheses.
3. In trades only what actually happened is given. If a team has several options in a deal only the one it ultimately uses is given.
4. Names in boldface indicate players who actually played for the Blazers.

The More Things Change, The More Things Look Like...

Dodge Neon Sport Coupe

It's a new personality for a car that had plenty to begin with. Say hello to the other Dodge Neon.

Dodge Stratus

We questioned everything. Which will explain why this car is so full of answers

Dodge Avenger

It's the kind of car that could get by on looks alone. We made sure it'll never have to.

Dodge Viper RT/10

We used a ten-cylinder, 400 hp engine to bring the American roadster back up to speed.

Dodge Intrepid

Its cab-forward design changed everything. Including the very architecture of the American sedan.

Dodge Grand Caravan

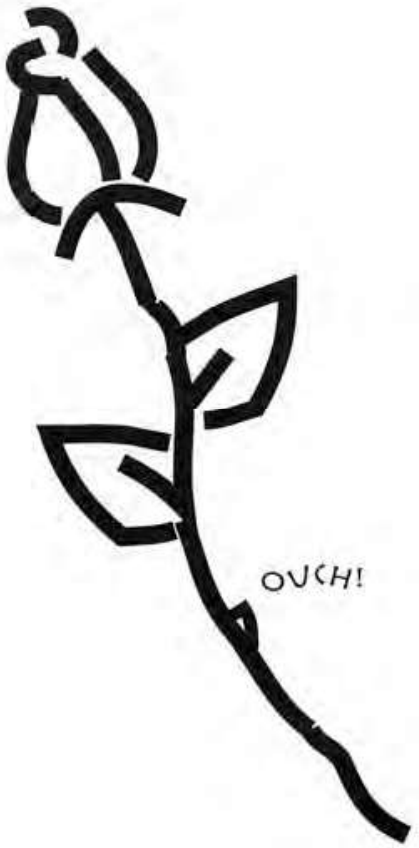
We thought of everything. No wonder it's just as original as the original.

Dodge Ram Club Cab

Last year we changed the rules about what you should expect from a truck. This year, we stretched them.

The New Dodge

See Your Northwest Dodge Dealer.



WE CAN'T WAIT TO SEE WHO RUNS INTO TROUBLE IN THE GARDEN.

"YOU TAKE CARE OF THE THINGS YOU CARE ABOUT."

It's up to all of us to take care of the Earth, as well as the things that live here. I work for Georgia-Pacific, a forest products company, and they believe the same thing. When we learned that the Coho salmon and Steelhead trout were struggling to survive, we came up with a plan to help. We're putting large boulders and logs in the rivers to create calm pools where the small fish can grow and survive until they head out to the ocean. It was something that needed to be done to help the fish. And it's good to know my company is doing it." Dick Patton, Resource Manager

UNITED STATES BAKERY INC.

We're the United States Bakery, and we've been around since 1906. If you've never heard of us, it's probably because you know us by our other names: Franz, Snyder's, Williams', and Archway. Individually, we operate as separate businesses, ensuring the high quality products, reliable service, and healthy price competition you expect. The United States Bakery may be the most successful independent bakery in the Northwest, but it's really Franz, Snyder's, Williams', and Archway. They're the ones who deserve all the credit.

Portland and Phoenix combined for 23 three-pointers in the first round of the 1995 playoffs, setting a new two-team NBA Playoff record for a three-game series.

From where we sit, there isn't a bad seat in the house.

The New Plymouth Grand Voyager

In redesigning the next generation of minivans, we followed one simple rule: Make it as good as it can be. Then make it better. The same rules were followed when they built the Trailblazer's new Rose Garden Arena. It's better designed. Roomier. Better seating. Conveniences. Hmm. Think they're copying us? On Plymouth Grand Voyager, we added the option of a convenient second sliding door, an industry exclusive. There's Easy Out Roller Seats,™ another exclusive! Inside, there's more passenger and cargo space than any other minivan. Grand Voyager plays it safe with standard dual front air bags† and available four-wheel ABS. The Trailblazers? They play to win. Which they'll do at the new and improved arena. And to see what's new and improved. And improved. And improved on Plymouth Grand Voyager. See us.

Four of the six lowest scores ever recorded by Portland playoff opponents came in 1992. The Lakers' notched the lowest ever---76---in the first round series-deciding game on May 3 (losing 102-76).Other lows in 1992 included 79, also by the Lakers, 88 by Utah and 88 by Chicago. Ironically, the all-time playoff high by an opponent, 151, also happened in 1992, that by Phoenix in the Suns' two-overtime 153-151 loss to the Blazers in conference semifinals.

Clyde Drexler, in 1986, came up just one rebound shy of joining a small, select group of players in the NBA who have recorded quadruple doubles in a game. The latest to do it was David Robinson of San Antonio on Feb. 17, 1994. Clyde scored 26 points, dished out 11 assists and had 10 steals and 9 rebounds in a Jan. 10, 1986, Blazers victory at Milwaukee. Others who have scored quadruple doubles over the years are Nate Thurmond, Alvin Robertson and Hakeem Olajuwon.

BILL SCHONELY

"Good evening basketball fans, wherever you may be. . ." With that statement Bill Schonely is doing what he does best, and what few others do nearly as well. For 25 years and 2,343 games, he's been bringing Trail Blazer basketball to radio and television fans from California north to Alaska. Only the Lakers' Chick Hearn (34 years) has been with his team longer than Schonely.

After a two-year stint as the play-by-play voice of the Trail Blazers television broadcasts, Schonely returned to the radio microphone last season, delivering play-by-play again from the opening tip of the first pre-season game right through the playoffs. Schonely will team with Blazers radio analyst Mike Rice for the fourth year. He worked with Mike for two seasons before moving to Portland's television broadcasts prior to the 1992-93 campaign.

Schonely's voice is perhaps the most recognizable in Oregon, as well as throughout the NBA. Schonz called his 2,000th Blazer game January 24, 1992, a 125-117 Blazer victory over Atlanta. With experience has come a reputation as one of the best play-by-play men in the business. He was voted Broadcaster of the Year in 1994 by the Oregon Association of Broadcasters. He's also become a national commodity as narrator of NBA promotional spots used across the country.

A native of Norristown, Penn., Schonely served in the U.S. Marine Corps before settling in Seattle where he worked as sports director of KVI radio for seven years. He served as the voice of the Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League (and would later work for the NHL's Oakland Seals), University of Washington football, and Seattle Angels and Seattle Pilots baseball teams. The Pilots departed after just one season and the newly-created Trail Blazers of the NBA came calling.

Schonely is highly visible in Portland and throughout the state, regularly lending his support to many charitable causes such as those sponsored by The American Heart Association, the Life Flight program, and M.D.A. Charities. He serves on the board of directors of Providence Hospital. Bill and his wife, Dottie, reside in Lake Oswego.

STEVE JONES

Steve Jones is not only familiar and popular with Trail Blazers' faithful, but also with basketball fans nationwide who follow NBA action on NBC. Now in his 13th year as courtside analyst for Portland games on Blazer Vision cable and on KGW Channel 8, he also has become an a respected member of the NBC television broadcast team that covers the NBA.

While honing his talents with Blazer Broadcasting since the 1976-77 season, Jones has become highly visible on the national scene the last eight years. He served three years with TNT and TBS before joining the NBC team when the network obtained the NBA's television rights prior to the 1990-91 season. Jones served as basketball analyst with Chick Hearn and Jim Durham in Barcelona, Spain as part of the NBC production of men's basketball during the 1992 Olympic Games. In that capacity he worked the equivalent of almost one-half of an NBA season, 36 games, in just two weeks.

Jones' broadcasting career began in 1976 (the season after he retired as a player with the Trail Blazers), when he became a color commentator for CBS. He was part of the network's announcing crew that handled the Blazers championship game against Philadelphia. Also that year, he served as color analyst for the Blazers. Jones continued for three seasons with CBS, also working with the Denver Nuggets during that time. He served a stint with the USA Cable Network as a commentator for NBA contests, working with new television play-by-play announcer Eddie Doucette.

Jones worked with Bill Schonely behind the Blazer radio microphone from 1979 until 1981, when he stepped aside to devote a full-time effort to the club's talk show, now known as "Courtside...with Steve Jones", which airs 85 minutes prior to every game. He co-hosts, with Blazers radio analyst Mike Rice, the weekly program "Courtside: Monday Night" throughout the year.

Jones is a native of Portland who led Franklin High School to the state basketball championship in 1959 before going on to a standout career at the University of Oregon. He paced the Ducks in scoring during the 1963-64 season. Jones earned all-star honors during eight seasons in the now-defunct ABA, then played the 1975-76 season with the Trail Blazers before retiring.

MIKE RICE

Rice was an honorable mention All-America selection at Duquesne as a senior, when he led the Dukes to a third-place national ranking and an NIT invitation. Selected in the eighth round of the 1962 NBA Draft by the Detroit Pistons, Rice opted instead to pursue a career in coaching. After posting a 245-71 record (.773) in 13 years at the high school level, Rice entered the college ranks in 1977 as an assistant coach at his alma mater. After being named head coach of the Dukes the next year, he guided them to a 62-49 (.559) record from 1978-1982. After leading Duquesne to two NIT appearances and twice-earning Eastern Eight "Coach of the Year" honors, Rice went on to Youngstown State in 1982. During his five-year tenure, the Penguins recorded a 20-win season and two second-place finishes in the Ohio Valley Conference. Twice he coached squads to the title game in the OVC tournament.

Rice moved to the broadcast booth in 1987 as a college basketball analyst for ESPN. A regular on ESPN's "Big Monday" lineup, he provided commentary for the games in the Big West as the primary analyst for the Western Athletic Conference. In addition to numerous regular season contests, Rice has also worked women's NCAA regional championship games, the Division II national championship game and high school all-star games. In 1989, he added broadcast duties with SportsChannel America as the primary analyst on their World Basketball League broadcasts. The WBL was familiar territory for Rice, who joined the Youngstown Pride in 1987 first as head coach, and later as director of basketball operations.

His wife Kathy is a former Duquesne Duchess basketball player. The couple has two daughters, Susan and Stephanie, both graduates of Syracuse University where they played tennis and one son, Mike, who played basketball at Fordham University. In his free time, Rice enjoys hustling on the tennis court and golf course.

THE NBA Cares

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting programs dedicated to improving the quality of life for all people.

For years, the NBA has created and implemented programs league-wide to address important social issues, with special emphasis on helping young people. This year's youth-based education programs will include the NBA Stay in School program, created to encourage students to graduate from high school through school visits by NBA players and coaches; and conflict resolution workshops designed to train teachers and educate students in methods to resolve conflict without resorting to violence. Public service announcements and educational materials will also focus on anti-violence conflict resolution messages.

The NBA continues to support CARE, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse, and Special Olympics through television and radio public service announcements and other awareness-building efforts. The NBA also creates PSAs in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Black History Month each year.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams are making a difference, across the United States and Canada, through active involvement in a multitude of outreach efforts pertinent to the needs of their respective communities.

MIKE PARKER begins his first season as host of "The Fifth Quarter" following each home and road Trail Blazers game broadcast on AM 1190, KEX.. Fans are invited to call in and talk with Mike about their favorite basketball topics. Parker, who joined the KEX staff in August of this year as host of "Sportsline" as well as "The Fifth Quarter," is no stranger to sports radio in Portland. For the past five years he has been full-time talk show host on Sportsradio KFXX. Before that he worked for three years as the play-by-play voice of the Class AAA Portland Beavers baseball team. A graduate of the University of Oregon in rhetoric and communications, he started out as a play-by-play announcer for the Eugene Emeralds baseball team and has done work on University of Oregon football and basketball broadcasts. He and his wife, Missy, have one daughter, Lydia Rose.

First and 4X4 MOST.

Tacoma's available 3.4-liter V6 generates 190 hp and 220 lb.-ft. of torque.

TACOMA 4x4. To come in FIRST. That's the GOAL of every competitor.

So let's start with POWER. Tacoma's available 190-hp V6 OUTPERFORMS even the biggest optional engines found in the Ford Ranger and Chevy S-10.*

Plus, TACOMA provides shorter, faster BRAKING* and outstanding maneuverability.

New, fully independent coil-spring double-wishbone front suspension with gas-filled shock absorbers provides more front wheel travel than Ford or Chevy.††

And only TACOMA combines CLASS-LEADING ground clearance with a STATE-OF-THE-ART suspension system. There's also the added confidence of a driver-side AIR BAG and available 4-wheel ABS.

TACOMA. From TOYOTA, naturally. The #1 name in Compact 4x4s, 15 years running.† It's the ARRIVAL of the FITTEST.

Tacoma 4x4 3.4L Xtracab automatic vs. similarly equipped Ford Ranger and Chevy S-10 with optional V6s. To help avoid serious injury, always wear your seatbelt. Driver-side air bag is a supplemental restraint only. †The Polk Company registrations, 1980-1994. ††Except on 4-cylinder models without alloy wheels.

GI Joe's has all the gear you need to supply your own personal hoop dreams: Basketballs, hoops and nets, and all the big brands of big shoes worn by the big guys themselves.
